

OFF-ROAD GEAR

By Alisa Clickenger

Dirt riders are a different breed, and many can be counted among the most passionate customers in the industry. They hit the trails hard, and they need gear that's comfortable, affordable and highly protective. Whether it's motocross, trials, dirt or dual-sport, every rider needs the right gear. Here are some of the 2015 apparel items that are new on the market and available for your dealership to stock this season. ↵

Joe Rocket Ballistic Adventure Jacket

The all new Ballistic Adventure jacket features a strategic combination of environmental protection, impact protection and multi-season versatility.

Environmental protection starts with a double overstitched, water and U.V. resistant RockTex 600 outer chassis. For serious downpours, tucked in behind the 2-way main zipper and double cross-over storm flaps, the Adventure also includes a removable waterproof liner that is backed by an additional insulated full sleeve liner to take you well into colder climates. The Variable Flow ventilation system features two massive intakes at the chest and two more tucked behind the 2-way zippers at the sleeves, the combination of which flows heat and humidity through the jacket and out the dual 8" rear exhaust vents. For truly extreme heat, the lower sleeves are fully removable, flowing air up and into the entire top of the jacket. Complementing this environmental protection is multi-layered impact protection that starts with an additional layer of resistant 840D Ballistic Nylon reinforcements at the shoulders and elbows. There is C.E. certified armor at the shoulders and elbows with a removable high density spine pad that can be upgraded. An 8-point Surefit custom adjustment with expansion panels above the elbows drastically decrease arm strain.
